With runners on first and third, Emery crunched a two-RBI double to center. Pete Valli and Notarmano both walked to load the bases, then Curty and Chuck Dashielle both walked to force in two more runs.

Realizing their command of the game, the Peanuts characters needed not to score in the sixth and understanding the hopelessness of the situation, the A. J. Jersey men failed to score in their final at bat.

Four runs were already in, but Charlie Brown's was far from satisfied. Kamler lofted an RBI single over third and Schinik walked to add another run.

David B. Corbin for The Leader and The Times SINGLE TO LEFT...Tom Layton lashes a single to left in the second inning, then later scores. Layton also had a three-run double later in the same inning.

Weinstein drew a walk, then both Diaz and Weinstein advanced a base on a passed ball. Anderson dug in at the plate and drilled a two-RBI single to left, then Ricciuti chipped an RBI single up-the-middle to give Westfield a 1-2 lead.

The White's pitching again held the upper hand and retired all three Summit batters in the fourth, then the White offense continued its dominance in the bottom of the fourth. Fiorino hit an infield single, Meylor and Gaynor both walked to load the bases, then Handza drove Fiorino home with a slow roller back to the pitcher.

With runners on second and third, Weinstein sliced a two-RBI single to right field, then moved to second on the throw home. Weinstein zipped to third on a passed ball and Anderson ricocheted a single off the pitcher to send Weinstein home.

In the fifth, Summit managed to place runners on base via two walks; however, no runs were scored and the White returned to the plate. Zierler laid
